

Accused of Crimes Against Humanity

Why is the US denying justice?

Mary Anne Perrone, a former Bolivian outreach worker, discusses the international campaign to bring the former President of Bolivia, Gonzalo Sanchez de Lozada (a.k.a. "Goni") to justice for human rights abuses. The only problem is that his host country won't extradite him. What government is shielding him from the law? The United States. Come hear why human rights advocates in Bolivia and the U.S. are calling for Goni's extradition, and what you can do to end impunity for human rights abusers like Goni.
